

Synopsis - “Your Money or your Life?”

The idea of an Unconditional Basic Income (UBI) is more and more being considered a possible way of solving certain socio-economic problems on national, European and global levels. On the other hand, this concept also meets a great deal of fierce resistance.

By talking to people from different realms of society, “Your Money or your Life?” is set out to explore the feasibility and reasonability of the UBI. Additionally, the web series tries to dig deeper by exploring conceptions of man, the worth of money, the meaning of labour, issues concerning justice and sustainability, concepts of a “good life” and so on.

“Your Money or your Life?” does not try to generate its own conclusions and declarations based on the conflicting points of view that are being shown, but instead attempts to approach a complex set of topics in an open and inquisitive fashion. That kind of openness is meant to create the space that will support the viewer’s critical and reflected formation of opinion. Thus, the web series intends to help carrying the UBI towards a broader societal discourse.

Director:

Florian Razocha

Project development team:

Florian Razocha, Petra Ganglbauer

Camera:

Florian Razocha, Maximilian Rosenberger

Sound:

Florian Razocha

Interviewers:

Petra Ganglbauer, Florian Razocha

Genre: Documentary web series

Scheduled length: 10 to 20 minutes per episode

Number of episodes: 6 to 10

Project start: January 2014

Production: Imagoscope Film

<http://geldoderleben.imgoscope.com/>